International Conference on Emerging Global Economic Situation: Impact on Trade and Agribusiness in India September 28-29, 2018.

As the global economy is undergoing a rapid change in recent time, it is clear that there has to be a major overhaul in the traditional thinking in business management. The integration of the global business markets and resultant systematic risks, international standards and effectiveness of domestic and international regulatory structures are some of the current issues that need to be dealt by both academicians and practitioners. New approaches and policies have to be developed in developing and developed business markets alike. Therefore, the strategic commands which can be implemented by the global as well as domestic business markets to compete with the multinationals in the wake of liberalized economy need to be discussed.

In the above backdrop, Agro-Economic Research Centre (AERC), Sardar Patel University (SPU), Vallabh Vidyanagar (VVN), jointly with Bhikhabhai Jivabhai Vanijya Mahavidyalaya (BJVM), Vallabh Vidyanagar had organised two days International Conference on Emerging Global Economic Situation: Impact on Trade and Agribusiness in India (September 28-29, 2018) with the sponsorship of Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare, Government of India and National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD), Ahmedabad. Emerging trends in Quality of Education, learning and Evaluation

"The whole object of education is...to develop the mind. The mind should be a thing that works." – Sherwood Anderson (1876–1941) American novelist and short story writer

Education is the tool of social transformation. A civil Society depends on quality education to make young generation responsible, thoughtful, devoted, disciplined and innovative citizen. It is the only way that can bring change for better future. Quality of Education, learning and Evaluation is essential for preparing future lives and for empower people and strengthen the nation. The purpose of education is prepared our children for higher education. Education can produce a generation of individuals who are better prepared for any career and can make greater contributions to society. In changing world, which increasingly is adding to uncertainty, all higher education institutions should provide favorable responses to social needs. Experience has proven that universities can provide best services to the community if they have concerns of continuous improvement in the quality of their services (Yarmohammadian, 2004; Weber, 2003). Hence evaluation is one of the strongest tools for strategic development in higher education environment (Saad, 2001). Evaluation of various courses of higher education is a necessity today, and also is the way to improve and increase quality of educational courses. The Millennium Development Goals of the United Nations (MDGs, 2002) consider knowledge as the prime mover of development in the new millennium. How to provide quality education to large numbers at affordable costs is the primary concern of developing countries.

Need of Quality Teaching, Learning and Evaluation

Present generation youth will be the leaders of tomorrow. But achieving this objective, Quality Teaching, Learning and Evaluation is the need of hours. There is need to change our education system to educate our youth now. Our country is facing numerous problems related to quality and. The greatest hurdles faced by the youth of today are that are not prepared for what they will face for tomorrow's challenges. A better education for young people can mean better things for society. It helps and mold young people into ideal citizens and to prepare them for survival in the real world, build a strong economy, contribute to a healthier environment, and bring about a brighter future for everyone. In order to guarantee success and to feel secured, Indian government must invest time and money to education in order to make our future secure. The government has a responsibility to support and fund the programs required to be done to ensure a quality education for every student. Developed countries like America, Japan, Norway and many other countries learned that Quality education is needed to survive in this competitive environment. The cooperation of government and citizens in these countries committed themselves for building an impressive education system of their own and first class education systems.

Quality Education is essential in the preparation for leadership because education provides as one of the best way to build the better us. It enlightened societies. Education is linked to the development and progress of the nation and the advance of the civilization. Indian people have deep concern for education because it occupies a central place in political, economical, social, and cultural life in the Indian. The government allocates a high budget every year for quality .but there are some important issues that needs to be looked closely and resolved by the government. Among the issues are:

Quality of Education – This is the first major issue that the Indian government should resolve. High dropout rates, high number of repeaters, low passing grades, lack of particular language skills, failure to adequately respond and address the needs of people with special needs, overcrowded classrooms, and poor teacher performances, have greatly affected the quality of education.

Affordability – our countries is also facing the problem of education divide. Students of rich class have excellent educational background gained from exclusive private schools at the start of their education until they finish college. On the other hand students of poor class are not even finish elementary nor secondary level because of poverty.

Budget – Our government budget on education is also not adequate to achieve the quality education.

Vocation Education – There is a problem gap between theory and practice in education system. There is also problem of educated unemployment.

In the present situation there is need to introduce reformation of quality education to improve the quality of education and to be globally competitive in this millennium. Quality, as all of us are aware, makes education as much socially relevant as it is personally indispensable to the individual. In this sense quality becomes the defining element of education. In this context quality and excellence should be the vision of every higher education institution. Educational institution have a major role in the growth and development of scientific, cultural and human resources. Professional higher education planners should evaluate university programs to identify their weaknesses and strengths and accelerate scientific developments, and be responsible to educational needs in national and global level as well as to improve quality of educational processes and programs continuously. Acquisition of quality and excellence is the great challenge faced by all higher education institutions. Expectations for better performance, in terms of teaching and producing competent college graduates are increasing. So educational planners whether in level of the university, college or department should concern over quality Education AQIP as a model for evaluating quality is applicable for all universities. It improves strategies and training programs as well as identifies community needs and expectations of students and faculty
